A summary of environmental achievements

We take our environmental concerns seriously and we have developed a sensible environmental policy to give our clients the confidence that they are dealing with a printer that cares. We strongly believe that we have a duty of care which goes beyond our legal responsibilities to take whatever sensible actions we can to produce print and distribute print in the most environmentally responsible way possible and to prevent pollution. Fuller Davies are a fully carbon balanced printer, this means that together we and the client make the highest statement of integrity and credibility that the carbon impacts have been fully balanced. Good environmental management is about making steady incremental steps and we will wherever possible set measurable targets to reduce ours and our clients' impact in three areas of our business:

- Our working environment,
- The resources that we use in production and
- The reduction of unnecessary waste.

Personal testimony It was important to us to be involved in a local scheme and to demonstrate our commitment locally.
